On the 17th instant the first work was done on the railroad to connect Portland with the Dalles. On the 16th evening the last rail between the Cascades and the Dalles was laid, and a train passed over the road the next day.

In reply to certain questions by our representative, E. L. Lowrie, cashier of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, observed: "I was suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism in my right foot; it was in a terrible condition; the pain was almost intolerable; our family physician waited on me without success; I sent for another well-known M. D., but even the twain could do nothing for me; I could not get down here to the office to attend to my duties; in fact I could not put my foot under me at all, and after nine weeks suffering I began to grow desperate. My friend (whom, of course you know, for he is known by everybody), Mr. Stacey Hill, of the Mount Auburn Inclined Plane Railroad Co., called to see me; he spoke very highly of St. Jacobs Oil, and recommended the remedy to me in glowing terms. I laughed at the idea of using a proprietary medicine, and yet the party recommending it, (Mr. Stacey Hill, remember), being a man of sound judgment, set me to thinking the matter over. The next day, when the physicians called, I dismissed them and said to myself that I would let nature take its course. That resolution lasted just a day. On the following morning I, in a fit of desperation, sent a servant for a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil. I applied that wonderful remedy, and it penetrated me so that I thought my foot was about to fall off, but it did not; in fact did just the opposite. The next morning the pain had entirely left my foot, the swelling was reduced, and really the appearance was so different altogether from the day before that it actually surprised me. I applied more of the St. Jacobs Oil, and that afternoon I walked down here to the office, and was able to attend to my duties and get around as well as any one. Let me say for St. Jacobs Oil that it beats railroad time, and is always sure to win.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE TIMBER SUPPLY OF EUROPE.

From an approximate summary of the timber production and trade of Europe, as given by the Journal of the Agricultural Society of France, may be drawn some lessons which may be of benefit in showing the dangers threatening our timber supply, and the advantages of an intelligent public policy of preservation. A man in business cannot be expected to sacrifice himself for the benefit of posterity, but the Government should see to it that such great resources should not be sacrificed in one generation. The policy of Austria has almost a counterpart in that of this country. Sweden and Norway have exhausted their oak as we almost our walnut, and, according to the Journal, their pine is going the way of ours. The following are the figures given by the paper mentioned above; Sweden and Norway, which still do a large export trade in deals are now compelled to buy their oak in Poland; and in Russia the forest along the shores of the Baltic, in Finland, and in the southern provinces, are rapidly thinning, so that the forest produce of the empire is now only one in ten. There are about 34,000,000 acres of forest in Germany (of which 20,000,000 are in Prussia), estimated to be worth £500,000,000, and bringing in an income of £10,000,000 per annum. The State forests are taken great care of in all parts of Germany, in Prussia alone £100,000 being spent every year in replanting; yet the imports of timber exceed the exports by over 2,000,000 tons. The oak and the beech are the kinds of trees which do best in Denmark, but the timber trade of that country is very small. Austria and Hungary have upwards of 43,000,000 acres of forest; but in Austria proper the State does not possess more than seven per cent. of the wooded area, as owing to the wasteful policy of the Ministry of Finance from 1855 to 1872 more than 5,000,000 acres were sold for sums so far below their value that there was a popular saying in Vienna, "If you want to become rich, buy State forests." The speculation came to an end in 1873, but Austria is now obliged to buy most of her timber in Bosnia and Montenegro. Servia and Rumania have some very fine forests; but Italy, though her forest area extends over nearly 14,000,000 acres, does not do much in the way of a timber trade, as the roads leading to the forests are so bad that it is almost impossible to move the timber when cut. Much the same is the case with Spain, which has 8,500,000 acres of forest; while Portugal, which has only 1,000,000, finds a good market for her timber. Sweden and Norway export about £32,000,000 worth of timber every year, and at this rate their fine forests will soon be exhausted.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

John Killalea—rightly named by the way—who murdered his wife in such a horrible manner in San Francisco last Monday night, formerly resided in Virginia City. Another striking example of the ruling Comstock passion strong in death. The cowardly murderer should get a change of venue to Eureka. The journalists there would tack "Esq." to his name and a jury of his peers would acquit him without leaving their seats.

The society editor of the Bodie Free Press stumbled over a Chinese lily the other day in his aesthetic rambles about town, and immediately rushed into print with the inquiry: "Are we on the apex of a boom?" He has since sent to Virginia City for a supply of sunflower seeds.

The Virginia Enterprise says that the Camp Sing who was shot in that city yesterday is not the original Camp Sing who formerly owned and ran the wash-house. The community can now breathe freely. We feared it was the other fellow.

The Enterprise has a new name for Reno. It says: "G. Derby, the cattleman is still down at the Bay."

A Frightful Steamboat Disaster.

MEMPHIS, March 30.

The Cincinnati and New Orleans packet Golden City, en route from New Orleans to Cincinnati, burned at the wharf this morning at 4:30 o'clock. Between 30 and 50 lives were lost, principally women and children.

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE HORROR.

MEMPHIS, March 30.

The steamer Golden City, of the Southern Transportation Company's line, when approaching the wharf this morning, was discovered to be on fire by second engineer Robert Kelly, who immediately notified Captain Purcell, the pilot on watch. The boat was headed for shore, and four minutes afterward touched the wharf at the foot of Beal street, where coal flats were moored. A line was hastily thrown and made fast to one of the barges. The current being swift it soon parted, and the burning steamer floated on down the river a mass of flames with many of the passengers and crew aboard, who were unable to reach the shore, and were lost. The Golden City left New Orleans on Saturday last, en route to Cincinnati. She carried a crew of about 60, and had about 40 cabin passengers, 15 of whom were ladies and 9 children. The cargo consisted of 300 tons, among which was a lot of slate, in which it is supposed the fire originated. Among the lost are Dr. Monahan and wife, of Jackson, Ohio; Mrs. Crary, Cincinnati; Miss Luella Crary, Cincinnati; W. N. Sterne and wife and two children; Oliver Wood and wife, Henderson, Ky.; Mrs. Anna Smith, Mass.; Miss Campbell; Mrs. Helen Percival; and Mrs. L. E. Kountz and three children. The books being lost, it is impossible to gather a complete list of the officers, who were all saved excepting Second Engineer Kelly, who gave the alarm and remained at his post until cut off by the flames, which spread like lightning. He sacrificed his life to save others. Thirty were saved as far as known. Nearly all of the cabin passengers and deck crew of the steamer saved themselves. Stowe's circus troupe was taken aboard at Vedalia, La., and six cages of animals and birds, together with ticket and band wagon, tents and a number of horses, were lost. Marion Purcell was in the Clerk's office when the alarm was first sounded, and he rushed through the cabin, burst open the state-room doors, and awakened the passengers. So rapidly did the flames spread that within five minutes after discovering the fire, which broke out amidships, a large part of the steamer was ablaze. Those who were saved had to flee in their night clothes. When the burning steamer touched the wharf the fire communicated to the coal fleet and tug Oriole, which were all burned. As nearly as can be ascertained, there were twenty-three ladies aboard the steamer, but two of whom, so far as known, were saved. The Golden City was five years old, cost $84,000, and was insured for $30,000 in Cincinnati. She lies sunk about three miles below here in a chute near the Tennessee shore. When she floated off from the wharf about twenty of the passengers and crew jumped aboard a barge which floated down the stream and were rescued by a harbor boat. It is estimated that 35 lives were lost. Kelly and three roustabouts are the only ones of the crew known to be lost. The fire was caused by a watchman accidentally setting fire to a lot of jute which was stored amidships of the steamer. She had just whistled to land and the watchman went among the deck passengers to notify them that Memphis was being approached, when the bottom of his lantern dropped into the jute and before the flames could be extinguished they spread all over the deck of the steamer. Purcell, the pilot, escaped by climbing over the front end of the pilot-house, as the fire was all in the rear of him when the steamer touched the wharf. The tug Oriole did not burn, as first reported, but was sunk by the burning steamer making the landing. Several coal barges and ice boats caught fire and were burned. Billy Dodge, the pilot of the Dean Adams saved the cook, who jumped overboard as the boat floated downstream. All of the passengers and crew were kindly cared for by C. B. Galloway, of the Peabody Hotel. Pat Haley and Mike O'Donnell, the two firemen who were on watch, say that they saw the negro captain of the watch, named "Wash," with his lamp in hand, looking for some of the deck-hands and crew. It was his lamp that set fire to the jute stored in the center of the steamer. As quick as flash the fire spread to either side of the steamer and up to the cabin. Haley ran up stairs to notify the chief engineer, but by the time he reached the hurricane deck the flames had mounted nearly to the pilot head. He then rang the alarm bell, and seeing that the boat was approaching the shore, ran down forward of the stairs and jumped on board the tug Oriole, just as the Golden City struck her. Seeing that the tug was sinking, he sprang aboard the steamer again and made his way to a coal barge lying alongside. Three negro deck hands and a white passenger were killed when the tug was struck, as they caught between the boats. Mrs. Boyd, the colored chambermaid, and her assistant were both lost.

There were about 10 men on the fatal boat who must have been drowned. Others must have shared the same fate. Felix Lehman, one of the passengers, says: There was a merry party aboard, and most of the passengers remained up until midnight. They had one or two gentlemen aboard who played the piano, and they entertained the passengers with music and singing. I was awakened by having my state room burst in, and heard a cry of fire. I seized my clothes and ran forward and reached the barge just in time, as the next minute the vessel floated down the stream. The body of an elderly white woman, as yet unidentified, was found floating near the wreck. Stowe's circus was en route to Cairo, where the Spring season was to be opened. A portion of the show is at Vicksburg.

W. McIntyre, clerk of the boat says that the list of the lost cabin passengers as well as he can remember is correct. Mrs. Kountz who with her three children, was lost was the wife of Capt. Kountz, a well known steamboat owner. Those taken to the hospital are all injured by burns but none seriously. The passengers lost all of their clothing, those that were saved had to flee for their lives without taking time to save their effects. The Chinese Bill—Views of Gen. Grant and Vice-President Davis.

NEW YORK, March 30.

The Graphic's Washington correspondent says: General Grant, when asked his opinion of the Chinese bill, said if he had been in Congress he thought he should not have voted for the bill in its present form. If he were President he did not know whether he should veto it or not. He thought the bill was objectionable in its present shape. He was not in favor of the Chinese coming to this country, but he thought the difficulty could be met in a better way than by legislation here. He thought the Chinese Government should be allowed control of the matter, and keep its people at home. He expressed the decided opinion that they would do it if we would let them.

It is said that Vice President Davis remarked to a friend to-day that he considered the bill as undeniably in violation of the treaty and that he would not hesitate a moment in vetoing it if he were President. The President stated to-day that he had not determined what action he should take in the matter, but expects to reach a conclusion at the Cabinet meeting to-morrow.

Page's Confidence in Arthur.

WASHINGTON, March 29.

Congressman Page called at the White House this morning and had a brief interview with President Arthur concerning the Chinese bill. He does not feel at liberty to communicate anything said to him during the interview, but while declining to give any authority for the statement, Page said to your correspondent this afternoon with the utmost possible emphasis and without the slightest qualification, "the bill will be signed."

THE RAILROAD BLOCKADE.

The Severest Freshet of Thirteen Years—A Westward Train To-night as Usual.

The wash-out at Beowawa was promptly repaired on Tuesday last, but several others occurred further up the Humboldt, which have not yet been repaired. The Silver State says: "For several miles in the vicinity of Bishop the road has been cut by mountain torrents which swept away embankments that withstood the freshets of thirteen winters since the road was completed. The road bed in several places has been washed away for thirty or forty feet, and in some ravines the gaps are fifteen and twenty feet deep. Nearly all of the Chinese employed as section men on the road west of Wadsworth were taken east on Tuesday to help repair the damage."

The water in some places is ten feet deep, running rapidly. It is hoped that the blockade will be raised by to-morrow. A train will leave here for the West at the usual time this evening, though, of course, no through train will arrive. It is probable that a train will come from Elko as was done last evening.

Personals.

A. Benson, Beowawa, the well known cattle man, is in town to-day.

Miss Susie E. Bransford of Greenville, California and Miss Maggie Fournier of Genesee Valley are visiting friends in this city.

W. J. Marsh of Sheridan, a leading stock raiser of the Carson valley, who has done much to improve the breed of cattle in that vicinity, is stopping at the Lake House.

A. C. Hamilton, Superintendent of several water-logged properties in Virginia, among them the Exchequer aquarium, the Imperial reservoir, and the Alpha aqueduct, passed through to Virginia this morning.

Thos. Freehill, the well known capitalist of the Comstock, who has a larger mortgage business at present than strictly desirable in view of the depression there, was in town yesterday, looking around with a view to purchase.

Thomas Gallagher of Gold Hill arrived from below this morning and went on upward. Commissioner Gallagher is one of the pioneers of the Comstock, but, like many others there, contemplates removal to a more promising section.

R. M. Green from the well known chemical house of H. B. Slaven, San Francisco and E. W. Fogg, manager of the Oroville Bank, Oroville Cal., were in town this morning. They went to Carson to-day noon and will return tomorrow and spend a day or two in Reno.

Phillips Deedesheimer, the well known Comstock mining superintendent and the only man in America who insists on spelling his first name with two p's, has finally shaken the porphyritic dust of Virginia from his feet and was a passenger on last night's train for San Francisco. After a brief stay there he will go to Mexico, where he is interested in the Santa Maria mines of Sonora.

Artistic Souvenirs.

E. A. Allen, the enterprising stationer and news dealer, in addition to novelties in his line received daily, has an elegant stock of Easter cards from Prang and other noted makers. They are gems of art, and are offered at exceedingly low rates.

A Father's Testimony.

CRESTON, Ia., May 21, 1881.

H. H. WARNER & Co.: Sirs—My little son has been cured of weak kidneys by the use of your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. M. C. BEYMER.

THE GLADIATORS OF WASHOE.

Reno's Amateur Athletes at Play—Sailors in the Bud—Preparing for a Public Display of Muscle.

The class exercises of Reno's amateur athletes, held at their gymnasium on Tuesday evening last, impressed a self-invited GAZETTE reporter forcibly. There are men of muscle on the Comstock, whose swelling sinews, as shown by the airy costumes of the lower levels, have often impelled the shuddering enthusiasm of scores of feminine tourists from the East and riveted their fascinated yet fearful gaze on the brawny Apollo of those avenues of porphyry and low-grade quartz. Yet even the Spartan forms of the giants of the Comstock are dwarfed before the bulging muscles of Reno's Spartans, who strain and sweat in eager rivalry at Kimball's Hall. The club is soon to give a public exhibition of their strength and skill, for which special preparations are making. Most of the members are business men, who in the intervals between customers frantically lift dumb bells and jump over their counters to keep up their vigor. Several of the most energetic and inefficient boxers of neighboring towns have been invited to give exhibitions at the coming tourney, among them Mr. Buntorne Mowen, of the Virginia Chronicle, and Oscar Greenhood, of the Carson Appeal, amateur heavy and light-weight champions of the State respectively. Mr. Sol. Levy and Wm. Goegel, the favorite pupils of De Cassagnac, the great French swordsman, will also appear in foil exercise and a terrific broad-sword combat, in addition to other attractions.

The Coming Attractions.

Leavitt's Gigantean Minstrels are likely to have a large house here next Monday evening. The San Francisco Dramatic Briefs of a recent date says: "Leavitt's Giganteans appeared before a very large audience and gave one of the best minstrel performances ever witnessed in this city. The bill for the evening was an excellent one from top to bottom. Part First introduced the negro and sentimental melodies, and each number proved a gem. Everything was deservedly encored. Part Second opened with the wonderful imitations of Professor B. Sloman. He is the 'boss' whistler and deserves his many medals. Conners and Kelly, the Rankins, the Gigantean Quartet and the American Four are each and all immense in their specialities. The bill concluded with a burlesque on La Mascotte, which is a whole circus in itself." Manager Leavitt shows his sagacity by liberal advertising. His lithographic show bills are remarkably artistic and fine specimens of color printing as ever seen here. The stand of bills put up in Reno alone cost fully $50. There will be no extra charge for reserved seats.

An Anti-Chinese Movement.

Ah Low, a Comstock Chinaman, fitted with an assassin's ambition by hearing of the recent murders in Virginia, shot a fellow Mongolian named Camp Sing in the right thigh yesterday afternoon. The Virginia Chronicle devotes a half column to the affair and recites mysterious mass of circumstances, involving love, intrigue, the ready revolver, and other details dear to that romantic and sanguinary community. Ah Low was jailed on a charge of assault with intent to kill. Camp Sing was not seriously injured. As we go to press no news has been received of tragedy in Virginia today, though one was due to keep up the average.

A Negligent Corporation.

An express letter containing money, which was dropped in the V. & T. express car last Tuesday evening, addressed to a certain street number at Virginia City, had not been received by the party to whom it was addressed up to noon to-day. On inquiry at the express office here the clerk said that the company did not hold itself responsible for the delivery of letters for which they are paid a small fee. If that is the way they look at it, it will be well for letter writers to take their chances with the mails, hereafter, as a choice of two evils.

Hearty Old Sinners.

The Carson Tribune refers to a whist game recently played at the Capital, participated in by four pioneers of Ormsby, whose united ages amounted to 264 years—an average of 66 years.

The venerable Deacon Parkinson, who cannot prevaricate, is authority for the assertion. That vigorous old man was born in the same year with Peter Cooper, and is now 91 years old, but still hale and hearty. Unlike the aspiring Peter, however, he has not yet received a nomination as President of the Greenback or any other platform.

Suits Direct From the Wool.

Among the many new advertisements which give the advertising columns of the GAZETTE a perennial freshness, our readers will be especially struck with that of the Capital Woolen Mills of Sacramento. At this celebrated factory the unique plan has been successfully adopted of not only manufacturing the finest grades of suiting, but of cutting and making up the cloth into suits. Their exceptional manufacturing facilities and large trade warrant lower prices than smaller dealers can possibly quote. Read the advertisement and send for samples and rules for self-measurement. An accurate fit, stylish cut, and best material and workmanship guaranteed.

Seeds That Will Grow.

Murray Dunham has just completed a picture of little Louis Osburn in water colors. It is 24x30 inches, and was enlarged from a cabinet size photograph taken by Mr. Dunham. The coloring was done by Mrs. Prebble, of Reno. The picture is very beautiful, and does credit to Mr. Dunham as a photographer, and to the artistic hand of Mrs. Prebble. The picture can be seen in Osburn & Shoemaker's show window.

A Beautiful Picture.

On Tuesday last, says the Silver State, the Refrigerator Company bought of H. J. Pratt, of Clover Valley, 197 head of the finest cattle ever raised in that county, at 8 cents per pound. The three largest weighed respectively 2,150, 1,955, and 1,825 pounds.

High Water.

The Humboldt river is booming. Monday all the bottom land along the river was under water. The river is now higher than it has been for years and from present indications it will reach the highest mark ever known before.

A Persecuted Cannibal.

Mike McGowan, the ever-hungry "man-eater," has been arrested again in Virginia City for indulging in his eccentric craving for human flesh. The authorities of the Comstock should utilize their Celtic cannibalism and allow him to eat up a few of their opium fiends, midnight assassins and other bad men. Michael should not lack for food on the Comstock. There is a large larder accessible to him there at present.

THE LATEST COMSTOCK TRAGEDY.

A Coroner's Jury Decide That Hassett Was Murdered—A Good Field for Detectives.

Coroner Conn, of Virginia City, held an inquest yesterday into the circumstances of the mysterious death of Michael Hassett, who was found dead on Tuesday morning last in a pool of water near the railroad tunnel in the vicinity of the Yellow Jacket shaft. An autopsy made before the inquest showed that there was a concussion of the brain caused by the deceased having been struck on the head with some blunt weapon. The surgeon who made the autopsy, gave it as his opinion that the blow in itself was not sufficient to produce death.

The jury returned a verdict that Hassett came to his death by being struck on the head with a sand club or similar weapon by some person or persons unknown, and afterwards being thrown into a pool of water. No clue to the murderer or murderers has yet been found. It appears from the frequency of assassinations on the Comstock that a majority of the best people have left there and that Virginia City is fast becoming a snug harbor for the Thugs and toughs of the coast. A sharp detective would find an excellent field there for the exercise of his talents in hunting down criminals.

Candela's Greatest Man.

Considerable excitement was created at the depot last evening when the train from the East came in, by the arrival of a large, fine-looking, full-breasted man, whose portly appearance and gaudy, made-to-order clothes, stamped him at once as a man of money and affairs. Several tramps, now passing a brief season with us, seriously discussed the advisability of decoying him away and holding him up, but were finally discouraged by the arrival of Sheriff Walker and aids. Some took him for Vanderbilt, about to stop over and pick up the Nevada & Oregon line if he found it possible to get in ahead of Major Yerington, while others believed him to be an emissary of President Arthur, bent on spying out the Washoe view of the Chinese question before his principal passed on the Miller bill. All doubt was set at rest finally by the appearance of Governor Kinkead and his Acting Assistant Secretary, Captain Lyon, who at once greeted the distinguished stranger in an emotional and most enthusiastic manner. The Governor kindly told a GAZETTE reporter that the great man was and still is General Sutherland by name, prime mover in the Candelaria Water Works, principal director of the Princess mine there, and generally Grand Mogul of the camp. Both the Governor and his Secretary are largely interested with him, and showed an ardent of acquaintance last evening which must have been most gratifying to the General.

The Hero of Candelaria thinks favorably of Reno, but is uncertain whether to take it at its present valuation or not.

A Negligent Corporation.

An express letter containing money, which was dropped in the V. & T. express car last Tuesday evening, addressed to a certain street number at Virginia City, had not been received by the party to whom it was addressed up to noon to-day. On inquiry at the express office here the clerk said that the company did not hold itself responsible for the delivery of letters for which they are paid a small fee. If that is the way they look at it, it will be well for letter writers to take their chances with the mails, hereafter, as a choice of two evils.

A New Mill for Churchill.

W. R. Lee, who has been for several years running a flouring mill at Greenfield ("Pizen Switch"), Mason Valley, has sold his mill there to A. Herbold, an old resident of the valley, and removed his residence to St. Clair, Churchill county, where he will run a flouring mill of two run of stones and a capacity of twenty barrels a day. His new mill cost about $5,000. Mr. Lee is an enterprising man, and will be a welcome accession to Churchill county.

The Baptist Entertainment.

In addition to the stereopticon views to be given by Mr. Jamison at the Baptist church to-morrow evening, Mrs. Greeley and the Misses Monroe, Toombs, Finlayson, and other favorite amateur vocalists will sing. Recitations will be given by Misses McNeely, Dodge, Andrews and others. The entertainment will be especially attractive to young folks, although the more seasoned ones will not find it anything but agreeable. The usual very low rates of admission will be charged.

Mutual Antagonism in Woods.

It is interesting, and it may be instructive to some, to learn that certain kinds of wood, although of great durability in themselves, act upon each other in such a way as to produce mutual destruction. Experiments with cypress and walnut, and cypress and cedar, prove that they will rot each other while joined together, but on separation the rot will cease, and the timbers remain perfectly sound for a long period.

THE "WEEKLY GAZETTE."

To-Day's Issue—An Unusually Attractive Number.

The WEEKLY GAZETTE issued to-day gives a condensation of the week's news, which renders it invaluable to parties who do not take a daily newspaper; and just what is required to send to friends in the East and elsewhere who wish to keep posted on Nevada doings.

The WEEKLY GAZETTE contains 48 columns of carefully edited matter, comprising the cream of the daily issues, besides matter specially selected for it.

To-day's issue presents an exhaust-

NEVADA BEEF FOR CALIFORNIA.

Sixteen Car Loads of Prime Cattle Going Below To-Night.

Sixteen cars of as fine beef cattle as were ever raised in this State will leave Reno to-night for Oakland and San Francisco. Of this lot 12 cars were bought by J. W. Slavin of D. C. Wheeler, the well known and extensive stock raiser of this section, and are consigned to Grayson, Herrod & Co., of Oakland, who do a leading cattle trade there. The cattle are fat and in prime condition, averaging about 700 pounds.

A. J. Hatch ships the remaining four cars to Murphy & Horn, San Francisco. These cattle were bought from G. W. Mapes, who is doing a large cattle business this season.

First-class cattle are scarce in the San Francisco market and this lot will insure a juicy change of diet for the boarders of the Palace and Baldwin hotels, who are now said to be grubbing over their diurnal steaks cut from the tough carcasses of the lean beefs of California.

A. J. Hatch ships the remaining

Teachers' Salaries.

New York has 8,164 male and 22,505 female teachers. Ohio, Pennsylvania and Illinois have more male teachers than New York, the number in those States being respectively, 11,456, 9,607 and 9,973. New York, as intimated, stands at the head of the list of female teachers, the other States nearest her being Iowa, 13,879; Illinois, 12,757; Ohio, 12,031; Pennsylvania, 11,602. The largest average monthly salary to males is paid by the District of Columbia, $88 47; Nevada next, $84 36; and Arizona, $84. Nevada pays an average monthly salary of $84 00 to her female teachers, and Arizona $68. The others are below that sum down to $62 83 paid in New Hampshire.

Late Forests of France and Germany.

The State forests of France amount to 3,000,000 acres, it is said, and yield an annual revenue of $5,000,000. Many of the provinces and departments also are large forest proprietors. Germany has about 23,000,000 acres in forest, nearly one-third of which belongs to the State, one-sixth to the Communes, and somewhat less than one-half to private individuals. Other European countries have larger forests areas, with correspondingly larger revenues.

Alcohol in England and Geneva.

The British people spend £120,000,000 for alcoholic liquors, yet it seems that they are quite abstemious compared with the population of the Swiss canton of Geneva, where the average outlay in drink every year is estimated at £12 per head, or more than three times that of England.

GENTLEMEN: Your remedy, the Safe Kidney and Liver Cure has been used by both my wife and myself, and we use it on our children, and it is a system and liver restorative; I took the medicine for a long-standing liver trouble, which has been the source of much inconvenience, and which failed to yield to the doctor's skill. It is a safe and reliable medicine, the Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. We both unite in pronouncing it to be the best medicine we ever used, and in recommending it to others as a safe remedy.
